More new links in our library

[1]Op-Ed: Recently we added some new sites to our link library [1]. The total is up to 49 but the three newest are off the beaten path: the Athena Institute [2], GreenDrinks [3], and WattWatt [4]. (We truly hope to refer you to sites that are useful, not just a million and one blogs and such. That being said, let us know [5] about other sites, especially any with case studies and how-to information.) Meanwhile: Athena is "an analyst firm with a collection of internationally regarded experts in progressive strategies and practical deployments to create brilliant buildings, businesses, communities and utilities," they state. GreenDrinks has links to zillions of worldwide "meet-up" events; I plan to attend one in Hoboken, New Jersey later this month. WattWatt is a community blog supported by the non-profit International Electrotechnical Commission.

Source URL (retrieved on 07/24/2014 - 7:55am):

http://www.ecnmag.com/blogs/2007/10/more-new-links-our-library?qt-most_popular=0&qt-recent_content=0

Links:

- [1] http://www.ecnmag.com/article.aspx?id=139889&menuid=&adcode=section=effzone
- [2] http://www.athenacompany.com/
- [3] http://www.greendrinks.org/
- [4] http://wattwatt.com/
- [5] mailto:evan.koblentz@advantagemedia.com

Page 1 of 1