

US Energy Lab Gets High-Tech Home

Energy News: Colorado didn't get a World Series victory, but here's something they can be charged up about: tomorrow the National Renewable Energy Lab [1] will break ground on its new home there. From the press release, Secretary [Samuel] Bodman also is expected to announce two renewable power projects at NREL and highlight the laboratory's leading role in meeting President Bush's aggressive goals for energy efficiency and use of renewable energy by the federal government." The new projects are related to powering and heating the campus, officials said. Details will be announced at 1:30 tomorrow, mountain time.

Source URL (retrieved on 01/26/2015 - 8:10pm):

http://www.ecnmag.com/blogs/2007/10/us-energy-lab-gets-high-tech-home?qt-most_popular=0

Links:

[1] <http://www.nrel.gov/>