

Procera Networks Hires VP of Product Management

The Associated Press

<http://www.proceranetworks.com> () —

Procera Networks Inc. (NYSE Amex: PKT), a developer of Evolved Deep Packet Inspection (DPI) solutions providing traffic awareness, control and protection for complex networks, today announced that Cam Cullen has joined Procera Networks as Vice President of Product Management.

"I'm really happy that Cam has joined our team," said Jon Linden, Vice President of Global Marketing at Procera. "He brings extensive product management and the DPI industry experience into Procera. These are valuable assets as we continue to grow product management to accommodate our commitment to Tier-1 service providers."

Mr. Cullen comes from a product management role at Allot Communications. Prior to Allot, Mr. Cullen was VP of Product Management at Reef Point Systems, held various roles in business development, marketing, and sales at 3Com, and was a captain in the US Air Force. Cam Cullen holds a Bachelor of Science in Electrical Engineering from the University of Alabama.

About Procera Networks Inc.
