Welcome to another edition of 5 Questions. Today I talk to Russ Garcia, a global marketing manager with Microsemi, about the company's recent acquisition of Zarlink Semiconductor. Microsemi provides solutions differentiated by power, security, reliability and performance, and Zarlink's expertise includes network timing, voice and power, and ultra low-power wireless applications. We'll discuss the strategy behind the acquisition, what the combined companies bring to the industry, and how the acquisition will affect customers of both companies.
